Delhi Old Age Pension Scheme 2026

Introduction

Delhi Old Age Pension Scheme is a welfare initiative by the Delhi Government to provide monthly financial support to senior citizens who have no stable income. The scheme helps elderly people live with dignity and meet their basic needs after retirement.

Objective of the Scheme

The main aim of this scheme is to support economically weak senior citizens and ensure financial security in old age. It is especially designed for people who do not have any regular source of income or family support.

Eligibility Criteria

To benefit from this scheme, applicants must:

- Be 60 years or above
- Be a resident of Delhi for at least 5 years
- Have an annual family income below ₹1 lakh
- Not be receiving any other pension or financial assistance from the government

Pension Amount (2026)

Under the Delhi Old Age Pension Scheme, the financial assistance is generally:

- ₹2,000 per month for age 60–69 years
- ₹2,500 per month for age 70 years and above
  (Some updates indicate possible revisions up to ₹3,000 in certain categories)

Benefits of the Scheme

- Monthly financial support directly in bank account (DBT)
- Helps senior citizens manage daily expenses
- Reduces financial dependency on others
- Promotes social security and dignity for elderly people

Conclusion

Delhi Old Age Pension Scheme 2026 is an important social welfare program that ensures financial stability for senior citizens. It plays a key role in improving the quality of life for elderly residents of Delhi.
